Brief Summary about Activity:

With the rising demands of smart phones and tablets, mobile apps are becoming ubiquitous, hence developing applications for mobiles are getting quite challenging in terms of cost, effort and marketing. It is an umbrella term for any mobile app project that targets multiple platforms. Mobile apps run on “Write once and run everywhere” paradigm. It allows the developer to write the code once and employ it across all platforms. Mobile apps in IOS, Android & Windows phone are coded using different programming languages. Dr. R.C. Saritha, demonstrated a real time Mobile Application using AngularJS and Ionic framework. At last, the students posed various questions and got their doubts clarified by the resource person.
